Problem Statement

- Challenges faced by academic institutions in scheduling student internships
- Inefficient manual processes leading to delays and mismatches
- Difficulty in managing diverse internship opportunities and student preferences
- Need for an automated and optimized solution to streamline internship scheduling

Introduction

- This portal serves as a comprehensive database management system for students enrolled in internships, accessible to their assigned mentors, Heads of Departments (HODs) based on branches, and the institute's director.
- In the development of our website for managing student internships at IMRT College, we will delve into the utilization of React JS, a widely-used JavaScript library recognized for its proficiency in crafting user interfaces.
- Our exploration will focus on how React JS can be effectively employed to enhance the functionality and user experience of our internship management platform.

Scope of Project

- Definition of the scope of the student internship scheduler
- Features and functionalities of the scheduler
- Target users (students, faculty, internship coordinators, training and placement department)
- Integration with existing student information systems (SIS) and internship databases

Objectives of Project

- Provide student internship scheduler
- Connect with multiple functionality
- Matching students with suitable internship opportunities based on preferences and qualifications
- Improving transparency and communication among stakeholders
- Enhancing the overall learning experience for students
